

I believe in the equity of opportunity for all students, and I advocate for systemic changes that will encourage and increase such equity. I place the utmost value on data driven, comprehensive, developmental school counseling programs, and evidence-based and outcomes-based procedures. I believe in the importance of life long education, and strive to remain well informed on the ever-changing realities and responsibilities of my field. I adhere strongly to the American School Counselor Association (ASCA) Ethical Standards for School Counselors, and prioritize ongoing personal education in this area in particular. I am familiar with, and practice, ethical guidelines surrounding personal wellness, and I clearly recognize the importance of having a positive support system, both personally and professionally. I am passionate about my own cultural competency and growth, as well as the cultural competency of my fellow educators.
